

ABSTRACT

Disclosed are a system and method of processing interrupt messages received on a data bus from a plurality of interrupt sources. The interrupt message receiver comprises logic to initiate an interrupt signal on one or more interrupt signal inputs to a controller in response to receipt of an interrupt message. The controller may then service the interrupt message in response to the interrupt signal.